ELEVEN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Oklahoma Business and Professional Man Accused

KU KLUX KLAN INVOLVED

Case Grows Out of Raid, Three Being Killed

ANDMORE, Okla. — (By Associated Press) — A case which, in the words of State Attorney General S. P. Frech, "will mean the life or death of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma," was called here today when eleven of the most prominent citizens were arraigned before Judge Thomas W. Champion in district court for trial on charges of murder.

The defendants, all well known business and professional men of the county, were among seventeen arrested following an attack of nine masked men upon Joe Carroll at his home in Wilson, the night of December 15, when three men, one of them Carroll, were fatally shot.

On this night in mid-December, the state charges, more than 100 men from Andmore and the surrounding county, all masked and with buckets of oil and jellies of feathers, gathered in a pasture, just five miles south of Wilson and later sent eight of their number in two automobiles, under the leadership of C. G. Sims, Andmore police detective to "get" Joe Carroll.

Unable to find Carroll's residence the eight men then called at the home of John Smith in Wilson and one of their number, a relative of Smith made him leave a sick bed and guide them to Carroll's house, telling him, according to the testimony of Smith's wife at the preliminary hearing, that "you are forced to do it as I have been forced to do it."

The following day, shortly before noon, Sims' dead body, clad in a suit of khaki uniforms, was found lying in the pasture where twelve hours before he had planned to administer punishment to Carroll for his alleged activities as a bootlegger.

Not a word of testimony was expected to be heard at this session. The long session from 2 to 6 o'clock each day, are to render night sitting of the court unnecessary, it was announced.

Both prosecution and defense have expressed a desire to postpone the hearing. Morning sessions are as usual from ten to 12 o'clock.

FIRE PROTECTION LACKING

Growth Of City Far Outstrips Hydrant Facilities

Rapid growth of Lima has outstripped development of fire fighting facilities of the city. Such is the opinion of Fire Chief John Mack.

That there are many sections of the city where valuable residence properties are jeopardized as a result of danger of visitation of fire and lack of a sufficient number and proper distribution of fire hydrants, was emphasized Tuesday by Mack.

Fire Monday in the residence of Roy McGee, 1310 W. North-st, where damage to the extent of $500 was occasioned, threatened to run into larger figures, because the fire department was handicapped by lack of a fire hydrant near to the blaze, the chief asserted.

Twelve properties in the McGee residence section were in jeopardy, Mack states, due to the fact that the nearest any of them are to a fire hydrant is 800 feet, requiring the laying of 16 sections of hose in case of a fire.

While the head of the fire department is hopeful for a correction of these conditions, he sees little opportunity for the city commission to secure the necessary money for the laying of water lines of the proper size and installation of fire hydrants, adequate in number and size, to meet the conditions in outlying territory in many parts of the city.

"Income of the city for the purpose of supplying the crying need of better fire protection is derived from a tax valuation of approximately $50,000,000," Mack said. "It is not sufficient and the hands of the commission are pretty well tied on this and other propositions. The valuation should be near $100,000,000," Mack declared.

"In the case of the McGee fire," the chief stated, "it was only by quick work and laying 1,100 feet of hose the department was able to hold the loss down to a minimum."

ONLY 48 HYDRANTS INSTALLED IN THE PAST THREE YEARS
But 48 new fire hydrants have been installed in Lima during the past three years, according to Mack's statement. The number is insufficient to keep pace with the development of the city, he asserted.

"More hydrants are as badly needed in the heart of the business section of the city as in the outlying districts," Mack said. In his report of fire department activities for 1931, Mack recommended the installation of 18 new ten-inch fire hydrants, to each of which three hose connections can be made, in the heart of the city.

"That would make the downtown section safe," he holds. The customary plan of location of fire hydrants is one at each street intersection, making it possible to lay hose lines in four different directions. More and larger hydrants should be installed in the business section, according to Mack's opinion.

"Eight of every ten fires are caused by sparks from chimneys on dry roofs," the chief said. "They are due to improper regulation of stove and furnace drafts. After starting fires, many householders neglect them. Swept upward by the rush of air thru smoke vents, the red hot and mischievous sparks find ready lodgment on shingle roofs. Then comes the call for the fire department, much excitement, destruction of property and a visit to the insurance agent."

GOLD IS USELESS, FORD SAYS

Explains Theory of His Proposed Money System

SCHEME INVOLVES PLANT

Government Would Issue Muscle Shoals Bills

CLEVELAND — (By United Press) — Henry Ford today explained the theory of his campaign to put American money on a new basis. "Gold is useless, except possibly for decorative purposes," Ford said on his arrival here from Washington, where he conferred regarding the Muscle Shoals project.

"Money, to be of value, must be creative. Gold is not creative, hence it is not a fair basis of value."

WOULD PROVE THEORY
Ford's new light is bound up in the Muscle Shoals project, the motor king said. The main reason he desires to take over the nitrate plant is to demonstrate that his money theory is sound.

"I have made my last move in regard to Muscle Shoals," Ford continued. "I have stated my proposition to the government. The rest is up to congress. I will go no further. I don't care what congress does with it."

CREATIVE SCHEME
With the start of the project thru the creative money scheme the government could issue $10,000,000 in $30 "Muscle Shoals bills." These would have the same value as ordinary currency, Ford explained.

Wages would be paid with these bills and general expenses in carrying on the work would be paid. They would, in effect, be non-interest bearing negotiable bonds. Ford would pay back the government at the rate of $1,250,000 a year.

At the end of the period covered by Ford's agreement, the government would be in complete control of the entire Muscle Shoals plant, without having paid a cent either in principal or interest, he explained.

STATE INSPECTOR STARTS CLEANUP

E. I. Pratt Threatens Wholesale Arrests of Auto Owners

Round-up of motorists who have not secured 1932 license tags commenced Tuesday, when Lima was made the center of a campaign to clean up delinquents with the arrival of E. I. Pratt, Columbus, inspector for the state automobile department. He is co-operating with police in enforcing the law regarding license tags.

Approximately half of the 9,000 motor vehicles registered in 1931 in Allen-co are not equipped with new tags. Many of the owners are farmers residing outside of Lima.

Late Monday records at Thompson's garage, distribution center for the county, showed 3709 touring cars, and 660 trucks are carrying 1932 plates.

The first two motorists to be arrested on the charge are Roland S. Heller, 1024 W. Wayne, and C. F. Rooney, W. North-st. They were released after they had been warned by Judge Emmett J. Jackson, in criminal court. One man already secured tags and the other promised to do so.

Pratt announced he is here to clean up the city and county. "My orders are to arrest all who do not have the proper license plates," he declared.

Helen Kennedy, was expected to be set today in superior court, where yesterday a jury of ten women and two men reported a disagreement and was discharged after a trial lasting eight weeks.

According to jurors who gave interviews to newspaper reporters, their vote on the final ballot was 10 to 2 for conviction.

"I am going to keep after Burch until I get him," declared Thomas Lee Wolowicz, district attorney.

NEW COIN FACE DISPLACES ONE ALL AMERICA KNOWS

By RUTH ABELENG
SINCE 1878 every American has been familiar with the face of Miss Anna D. Williams, head of kindergarten work in the Philadelphia public schools.

Because her face was the model of the design on the old silver dollar.

But, with the coming of the new "peace dollar," Miss Williams' place has been taken by Mrs. Anthony di Francis, wife of the young Italian sculptor who designed the new dollar.

Mrs. di Francis posed for her husband when he made the bust-relief that appears on the new dollar. I have talked to both of these women.

"Peace among the nations?" said Mrs. di Francis, commenting on the thing the new dollar commemorates. "Oh, that's too big a thing for me to talk about."

"I'm only the wife of a sculptor whom I'm trying to help and inspire. But come in here—" the little woman was leading me to the studio—the front room in their attic floor suite.

U. S. STANDS PAT ON OPEN DOOR

Reaffirms Policy Before Far Eastern Committee

PROBLEM AGAIN TAKEN UP

Shantung Also Remains as Unsettled Question

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Another meeting of the Far Eastern committee to continue debate on the subject of the "open door" in China, and further discussion of the Shantung question between the Japanese and Chinese delegates formed today's program for the arms conference.

As a starting point for the "open door" discussions today the delegates of the other powers represented in the Far Eastern committee had before them for consideration a concrete "definition" of the American view of what constituted an effective application of this principle.

SUPPLIED BY HUGHES
This was supplied them in text form by Secretary Hughes after opening the debate with a reaffirmation of the American "open door" policy in China, and was understood to have been based on the secretary's note of last July to the Chinese minister here.

The Chinese and Japanese continued today their effort to clear away collateral points involved in the Shantung settlement pending a final attack on the central problem of conditions for restoration to China of the "Tsingtao-Tientsin railway."

ACTION DEFERRED
Meanwhile, until the Shantung issue is settled—and both sides indicated today that there are enough things yet to be discussed to occupy many meetings more—the Far Eastern committee, at the suggestion of Secretary Hughes, is still deferring consideration of the Chinese request for a discussion of the famous "21 demands" and also of the question of spheres of influence.

In addition to these questions, the conference having proceeded on the declared policy of disposing of the subjects upon which agreement appeared easiest, has planned to take up the more difficult questions on Manchuria and the Japanese occupation in Siberia. Altho professing confidence in the outcome, most of the delegates privately concede that the conference may be facing the most critical stage of its entire course.

TOLEDO MAN CONFESSES HE STABBED WOMAN TO DEATH

Admits Brutal Murder After Finding of Coat Button Leads to His Arrest—Body of Victim Found by Her Son

TOLEDO — (By Associated Press) — Clyde Williams, 26, a glass worker, today confessed to the brutal murder of Mrs. Francis Marvin, a bible school teacher, in her home here last week, according to an announcement by police.

Williams, who is a tenant of the Martins, was arrested late yesterday.

A coat button, found a few feet from Mrs. Marvin's body, the only tangible clue upon which the police had to work, fastened the slaying upon Williams and led indirectly to the full confession.

Mrs. Marvin's body was discovered by a son, Virgil, 13, when he returned home from school late Tuesday afternoon.

She had been stabbed 39 times with a butcher knife and a telephone cord was tied around her neck. The room was in disorder, showing evidences of a terrific struggle between Mrs. Marvin and her slayer.

Robbery, is said by police to have been the motive for the murder.

TWO HOMES AFIRE

Woman, Ill, Carried From Structure at Columbus Grove

COLUMBUS GROVE — (Special) — Fire, originating from a defective flue in the roof of the residence of Virgil Evans, restaurant proprietor, partially destroyed his home on N. Broadway, Monday.

Mrs. Evans, who was ill and in bed, had to be removed from the burning building by her husband. Firemen worked two hours, chopping away the roof, before being able to get the blaze under control.

Only a few minutes before they had responded to an alarm from the home of Glen Jones, barber, S. Broadway. The fire fighting equipment had been placed in the city building, when almost at once it was needed again.

The blaze at the Jones home did little damage. Sparks from a nearby chimney set the roof on fire, it is believed.

At least eight men were in the crowd that waited about the place for Matthews to open for the day's business. When he arrived the leader of the gang stepped forward and said: "We want food and want it quick."

Matthews ordered him out of the way and as he did so the man drew a revolver and fired twice, one bullet striking Matthews in the left side of the head and the other in the abdomen. The men then fled.

G. O. P. SPLIT ON FUNDING BILL

Allied Debt Measure Objectionable to Some Members

PARTY CONFERENCE CALLED

Proposed Act Also Fought by the Democrats

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Republican senators will hold the first conference of this session of congress tomorrow with the announced purpose of reaching an agreement on the allied debt funding bill. Strong Democratic opposition to the bill in the form in which it was reported to the senate yesterday was reported to have led to call issued today by Senator Curtis of Kansas, assistant Republican leader.

While the call mentioned only the allied debt funding measure, some Republican leaders stated privately that the conference was to serve as a general get-together affair.

DIVIDED ON MEASURE

It is known that four or five republican senators are not wholly in accord with the majority leaders as to a party policy on the funding bill and it was thought possible that discussion of that question might lead to a broader course than just a general review of the meaning and purposes of the pending legislation.

With the measure drawn in a form believed to be acceptable to the administration, senate majority leaders are determined to push it thru the senate with a view to speeding up the refunding negotiations, holding the view that a settlement of the foreign debt question will go a long way toward improving economic conditions in Europe.

Under the bill as now before the senate, the refunding commission of five members would have very broad powers in conducting negotiations with the debtor nations. It would have authority to defer interest payments and also to fix the rate of interest. Democratic senators, under the leadership of Mr. Simmons of North Carolina, banking minority member of the finance committee, object to grant of such powers.

SNOW PROMISED BY FORECASTER

Not content with continuing in an amiable mood and dishing up weather of the desirable sort, with dry conditions underfoot, the forecaster this day comes thru with a promise of increasing cloudiness and warmer weather followed by snow Wednesday.

This means, in effect, if the prophecy comes true, that Old Sol will be shoved into the discard for a time at least and unless the mercury continues low, there'll be a slushy time underfoot and additional proof of the golosh and other footwear impervious to moisture.

Young America is advantaging the opportunity to gain full enjoyment of ice skating while the ice remains, unsoftened by mild temperature and free of impeding snow blanket.

THRIFT WEEK IS APPROVED

Bankers Aid in General Plan—Program Progresses

Lima bankers have placed the stamp of approval on the observance of Thrift Week in Lima, beginning Tuesday, Theodore Harris, cashier of the American Bank & Trust Co., stated Tuesday.

A meeting of the Lima Clearing House association was held for the purpose of creating a fund and laying plans for a thrift campaign in connection with the special observance of the week, but owing to the fact that several of the members were unavoidably detained, efforts did not materialize. Another meeting will be held soon, when it is expected that plans in formulation will go thru.

Bankers realize the importance of thrift among all people, Harris stated, and are willing to give every assistance possible. Tuesday, the first day of Thrift Week, was featured by two and five-minute speakers before clubs and at factories, laying stress on the service financial institutions afford in a community and the benefits derived from doing business with them.

Wednesday will be observed as budget day; Thursday, national life insurance day; Friday, own your own home day; Saturday, make a will day; Sunday, pay your bills day; Monday, share with others day.

KNOCKOUT AIMED AT LAFOLLETTE

Enemies Plan to Expel Wisconsin Senator

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — Expulsion of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin, from the Republican party, is being sought by his political and personal enemies.

They want the "stormy petrel" of the senate officially thrown out of the G. O. P. majority and figuratively, if not literally, set out in the middle of the senate aisle as a "man without a party."

At a recent meeting of the Republican committee on committees of the senate, a motion was made that LaFollette be expelled from the party. This was to be done by dropping him from all the senate committees of which he is now a member and excluding him from the Republican conference, that is the secret meetings of all senate Republicans to determine party policies on legislation.

The attempt fell thru for the time being, however, when Senator Moses, New Hampshire, raised the point that the committee on committees, who it can control a senator's committee assignments, cannot be the judge of his qualifications as a member of the party.

He was arrested Tuesday a week ago by Officer Keller. According to police, a gallon and a half of liquor was found on him as he was entering his bakery. He pled not guilty and his trial set for Tuesday but he changed his plea without preliminary.

Educational addresses were heard by members of the Northwestern Ohio Society of Optometry in a meeting Monday afternoon and night in the crystal room of the Hotel Argonne. Forty-five were in attendance. They represented almost as many cities and towns in northwestern Ohio.

Thomas J. Etkinson, Chicago, former professor of psychology and neurology in the Chicago College of Medicine, lectured on the former subject at 4:30 p. m. Dinner was served at 6:30 and at 8 p. m. Dr. Etkinson spoke on pathology.

A. L. Allenburger, Toledo, state secretary of the Ohio Optical association, addressed the gathering on eyesight conservation. A. C. Jacob, president of the society, presided.

KRAUSS IS HELD IN $5,000 BOND

Alleged Dope Fiend Pleads Guilty to Burglary

L. A. Krauss, 42, Detroit, arrested Monday night at the home of R. L. Graham, 429 S. Cole-st., while in the act of ransacking the house, plead guilty in criminal court Tuesday and was bound over to the grand jury under $5,000 bond, which was not forthcoming.

Krauss is a dope fiend, according to police. He was looking for dope when arrested. He carried a hypodermic needle. An hour before taken at the Graham home he broke into the residence of F. W. Drake, 1424 Lakewood-ave., carrying away old clothes, other articles of apparel and kitchen utensils, according to police. Krauss gained entrance to each home by placing a ladder against the side of the house, it is stated.

George McDonel, 419 S. Cole-st., son-in-law of Graham, noticed the ladder against the house while going home at 10:30 and called police. Officers Hargrove, Keller, Hamilton and Landfair responded.

Krauss was released in criminal court Friday after a week in the city jail on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

COLONEL GALE IS ONLY APPLICANT FOR PLACE AS LIMA POSTMASTER

Colonel A. E. Gale is believed to be unopposed in his effort to clinch the postmastership in Lima.

Clarence Munaugh, present assistant postmaster, and John A. Harley, a member of the new city commission, stated Tuesday they are not seeking the post.

Gale mailed his examination papers to the United States Civil Service commission last week at Washington, D. C. The commission was to examine the papers Tuesday.

As to when he may expect his appointment is problematical with Gale. He says it is sometimes 30 days before carriers receive their notices from the federal commission.

Political bees around the nation's capitol will probably have the official dope soon and pass it along. However, it is almost a certainty that Gale will find no obstacle in his way which, so far, has been smooth sliding into the postal position.

LANTERS FIRES TOOL WAGON

Destruction of a tool wagon belonging to W. J. Irvin, contractor, was threatened Monday at 5:15 p. m. at the corner of Main-st. and Grand-ave, when it caught fire from an unglazed lantern left by an employee while placing lanterns along a sewer project nearby. The interior of the wagon was ablaze when the fire department arrived. Damage was slight.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION

J. B. Dunn, 28, traveling salesman, giving his home as Chicago, was assessed a fine of $15 by Judge Emmett J. Jackson in criminal court Tuesday morning after he pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge. Dunn was arrested Monday night by Officers Hargrove and Landfair.

STEEL DEMAND ON THE INCREASE

Indication of Business Revival, Jonathan Warner Says

WARREN — (United Press)—A great business revival which will develop thru increasing business during the next year or two, rather than a full production in the near future, was predicted in an exclusive interview here today by Jonathan Warner, president of the Trumbull Steel Company.

There is now being laid a firm foundation for a great business revival, because we are getting back to the fundamentals which were forgotten during the last few years. Economy and thrift always precede a business revival," said Warner. Warner declared that the demand for steel products is gradually increasing every place and that the output of mills is consequently becoming more and more each month. "This condition is caused by the general optimism prevailing, a much easier money market and also because every one is realizing that prices of steel products, at least for the present are low," he said.

NEW LIGHTING EFFECTS FOR OLD CITY OFFICES

Installation of a new lighting scheme at city hall, ordered by the commission, is to be completed soon. The lighting of the old council chamber will be changed. The glaring lamps are to be replaced with a soft indirect light. Indirect lighting will also be placed in the manager's office and that of Harry N. Osgood, clerk of the commission. The rooms are being repainted and decorated and a swinging door replaces the old sliding door opening into the manager's office.

POMERENE WOULD PREVENT NEWBERRY CASE RECURRENCE

WASHINGTON. — Senator Pomerene, Ohio, today introduced a bill intended to prevent a recurrence of the Newberry election case. The measure would write into the federal corrupt practices act, provisions which the supreme court held were not specifically included when it ruled on the Newberry case.

Pomerene's provision would limit expenditures of candidates for the senate to $10,000. It would penalize promises of office or money by a candidate to campaign workers. It would require filing with the secretary of senate of detailed campaign expense accounts within 15 days after election.

Newberry was in his place when the senate met today. He was warmly greeted by many of his Republican colleagues.

CITY EXPENSE TO TOTAL $234,504

Budget Adopted by Commission
—Salaries Are Cut

Lima's city government for the first half year of 1922 will cost $234,504.

$234,504 according to appropriations for running various departments which were incorporated in the budget adopted by the city commission Monday night.

The measure represents more than a week's work on the part of the commission and Manager C. A. Bingham, to bring the estimated expenditures of all departments within the amount of money available.

Original estimates for the budget fixed at $235,151, were slightly increased by an appropriation for clerical help for the criminal court and increased appropriations for outdoor relief.

The salary ordinance was passed as an emergency measure. It classifies and standardizes pay of employees in municipal service and effects some changes. It will become effective February 1, except as to the police and fire departments, where the reductions of pay are already effective.

Salaries for some of the more important offices are: Sewer engineer, $4,000 a year; city engineer, $3,000; health commissioner, $3,000; superintendent of filtration, superintendent of distribution and pumping engineer, $2,160; market master $2,000; chief of police, $1,920; fire chief $1,920. Reductions of pay amounting to approximately 10 per cent are incorporated in the ordinance. They affect nearly all minor positions. Pay for labor is fixed at a sliding scale of from 25 cents to 80 cents an hour, the rate to be fixed by the city manager.

An ordinance calling for bids from Lima banks, desiring to become the city depository, was passed. Bids will be received January 27. The bank offering the highest rate of interest and best security will be the depository for two years, beginning March 1. The First National bank, present depository, will complete its contract March 1.

A claim from John C. Tate company for $100.50 was referred to the manager. Bid for 2,000 tons of coal from the Lorain Coal & Dock company was accepted. The price is $2 a ton. Appointments to fill vacancy on the sinking fund trustees, created by expiration of Dr. William R. Tate's term was referred to the city manager. A motion to close an alley near Cousin's junk yard, Pennsylvania railroad and West-st. was tabled.

Sealdsweet Grapefruit and Oranges

In buying grapefruit and oranges, remember that true beauty is more than skin deep. The real merit of these citrus fruits is in the juice and good looks do not signify juiciness.

Grapefruit or oranges that are russet or golden will be found just as juicy and sweet as fruits which are bright on the outside. Whatever the color, tree-ripened Sealdsweet grapefruit and oranges are good to eat.

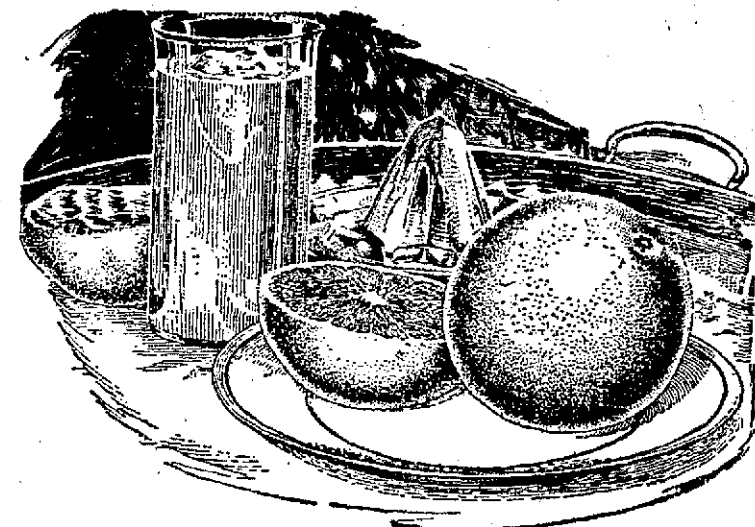

Rich in Food and Health Values

The value of grapefruit and oranges, in calories or fuel units of food, has been amply demonstrated by medical and scientific research.

Now science has found these fruits equally rich in vitamins, the food elements essential to the perpetuation of life; vitamins making other food constituents available to the system.

It is the juice of grapefruit and oranges that contains the calories and the vitamins. Sealdsweet Florida fruits are heavy with juice, indicated by weight, hence their usefulness as food and for maintaining health.

For Inner Goodness That Will Satisfy

Sealdsweet grapefruit and oranges may be depended upon. This inner goodness is the first aim of the co-operating growers who market their fruit through the Florida Citrus Exchange.

The same trees produce grapefruit and oranges that vary in outer appearance from bright and golden to russet, but are equally good inside. Buy for juiciness and sweetness rather than by color, using the Sealdsweet trade-mark as your guide.

Handsome Book As a Gift

THRIFT WEEK

LIMA is again observing Thrift Week, starting today and to continue until January 23—one week. This movement is not new to this city, having been featured by special programs for several years past.

By proclamation of the mayor and by co-operation of the Y. M. C. A. special observance of Thrift Week is brought to the attention of the people. It is inaugurated on a propitious day—the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, America's patron saint of thrift.

A series of talks by speakers before civic clubs, at factories, social centers, in the schools and elsewhere, planned to further the spirit of the week, is now in progress. Benjamin Franklin knew, as many others have since learned, that waste of war cannot be continued in peace time by any nation indefinitely, without disaster to itself. America has had its orgy of waste. Thrift, frugality and economy must take its place.

We are now recovering from months of war. All effort is seeking a normal basis. Nothing will help quite so much as thrift; hence the inauguration of Thrift Week. National Thrift day or Bank day, is observed today, to emphasize the service financial institutions afford in a community and the benefits of doing business with them.

January 18 is budget day, to show the importance of planning expenditures in advance, buying and investing wisely and keeping a record of expenditures. January 19, National Life Insurance day, to bring to attention of everyone the importance of protecting loved ones by creating a life insurance estate. January 20, Own Your Own Home day, emphasizing the importance of living under one's own roof. January 21, Make a Will day, bringing to the attention of everyone the importance and value of planning for the future welfare of one's dependents in making a will. January 22, Pay Your Bills Promptly day, showing the value of credit and the moral obligation of paying bills promptly. January 23, Share With Others day, emphasizing the religious privilege of sharing a part of one's income with the church or other unselfish causes.

It is a fine program Lima is entering heartily into the lessons taught by Ben Franklin.

THE NEXT WAR

THE flying torpedo, steered by wireless and carrying tons of high explosives and poison gases, is now ready for use in battle.

Joseph Wright, naval expert, says these torpedoes could be sent from Europe with the precision of rifle bullets and made to drop in any selected town.

A swarm of 3000 of them would wreck New York City. Flying torpedoes carrying 200 tons of phosgene gas would kill every person in New York not scientifically masked against it. Lima is equally vulnerable.

Polliticians seem unable to disarm the world. Science will do the job. The next big war, if fought, will ruin and virtually exterminate both sides.

WORMWOOD

THE ex-kaiser's pet racing yacht was the Germania. He kept it at the Kiel Yacht Club and dreamed of world power as it carried him on cruises.

The war changed a lot of things. It changed the name, Germania, to Half Moon. It also changed the yacht's ownership. Gordon Woodbury, of New York, owns it now. He starts on the Half Moon for a cruise in the South Seas.

When Bill Hohenzollern heard about this at his famous woodpile in Holland, it's a safe bet he broke his saw.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY APPROACHING HIS DESTINATION

THE NEW DOLLARS

THE new silver dollar, pretty to look at, is objected to by some bank tellers. It's too thick. Pile 20 on top of each other and a slight jar will topple the stack.

This is typical of many things done by man. Function or purpose of a thing is neglected, to improve its form. Like a $15,000,000 postoffice building with huge marble corridors and about a tenth as many stamp windows as are needed to prevent delay.

Real art is efficiency of function.

LIQUOR AS MEDICINE

ARE whisky, wine or beer necessary for medicinal purposes? Journal of the American Medical Association put that question to physicians.

Only 2668 physicians supported beer. The vote was 3884 for wine.

On whisky, the doctors broke about even, 6737 for and 6519 against.

AS YOU LIKE IT

And prohibition officers are sometimes poisoned by the evidence. Privilege will ever be accompanied by some risk.

Great Britain realizes at last that the plagues of Egypt are not all in the Bible.

If Ireland were but a bit larger, De Valera might be able to influence a sufficient number of the citizens to assist him in setting up a principality for himself.

We cannot all go south for the winter. Somebody has to stick on the job and keep the pipes from freezing.

A truly converted Republican will bring forth fruits meet for repentance, meaning that at the first opportunity he will vote the Democratic ticket and shame the devil.

The only difference between illegal hangings in the army and lynchings in Georgia is that the lynchings in Georgia can be proved.

The recent discovery of a new planet proves that one more thing is going around in a circle and getting nowhere.

In British Columbia a man is now privileged to buy only 21 punts of beer a day. However, in case of sickness, there may be a special provision.

The man who can persuade his wife she looks just as well in cotton stockings as in silk, missed his calling if he isn't in the government diplomatic service.

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

STOMACH ACHES

Stomachache, like headache, is always a symptom. In young people the chief cause is indigestion in diet. Eating too much starchy food that is often imperfectly digested or eating indigestible food, pastry and concentrated sweets, as candy, causes an excessive flow of gastric juice. The drinking of a large amount of ice water may check digestion.

Aside from simple indigestion, stomachache may be caused by gallstone colic, ulcer of the stomach, or even cancer, though in many cases of cancer, there is no pain. Pain in the large intestines may feel like a stomachache.

One cannot be too often cautioned to be careful in eating. Form the habit of chewing your food carefully and thoroughly. Never eat immediately following an emotional strain. Anger, fear and worry cause indigestion, chronic constipation and severe attacks of stomachache.

There is a multitude of pills we may inflict on our stomach before we get far as stomachache. When a stomachache follows a heavy meal it is fairly certain that it is due to indigestion.

Relief will come when the stomach is emptied of its contents, undigested food and toxins, by forced vomiting.

Persistent, recurring stomachache that does not yield to simple treatment such as the correction of diet should be carefully investigated by a stomach specialist.

AS ONE DAD SEEN IT

I do not want my children to think of me with awe, A stern, dogmatic parent whose very word is law, But rather as an older pal whose wide experience Has given to him, by and large, a modicum of sense. Then they can take my counsel and see that it is fair And in whatever they may do I'll have a chance to share; I hope that they can say of me—I ask no sweeter fame—"Father is a sportsman and he always plays the game!"

I want to be their playmate, I want to help them learn, The line and honest code of sport; I want their hearts to burn With zeal to win each contest, but to win it clean and straight, Or lose it—if they're beaten—without whimpering at Fate; I can't do that by precept, for the precept would be vain Unless my own example made the lesson very plain, I can't do otherwise if I would hear my children clam, "Father is a sportsman and he always plays the game!"

From crooked deals in business, from doubtful devious tricks, From sluttish questionable acts in trade and politics, From various hypocrisies and sophistries and lies Which what we call society too often justifies— From these, dear Lord, deliver me; I want my kids to say "The old boy made a record which we needn't hide away. He didn't ask for favors and he faced life as it came. Father was a sportsman and he always played the game!"

MYSTERY KILLING CLEARED UP

Indiana Man Confesses Shooting
Catt, Found Near Columbus

CLAIMS ACT SELF-DEFENSE

General News Items Gathered
From Ohio Cities

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — County authorities here today believed they had cleared up the mystery surrounding the death of Leland Carl Catt, of Newark, whose body was found on a country road near here last Friday. Facing a charge of manslaughter, Loren Hartzell of Anderson, Ind., was held in the Butler-co jail at Hamilton, after he had signed a statement declaring that he had shot Catt near Hamilton late Thursday night when Catt, standing on the running board of Hartzell's automobile, threatened him with a revolver.

According to the story of the shooting, as constructed by Sheriff Frank Holycross, of Franklin-co, who with Butler-co authorities, arrested Hartzell at Anderson early yesterday, J. S. Richardson and Nathan Levi, who were with Catt at the time he was shot, picked up his lifeless body and brought it in their automobile to Columbus where it was placed at the point where found. Both Richardson and Levi, upon whose information Sheriff Holycross said he had arrested Hartzell, remain in custody here as witnesses. Catt, Richardson and Levi started for Hamilton Thursday night, intending to return in the morning, the latter said.

ROBBERY FEARED — Hartzell, according to Sheriff Holycross, declared in his statement that he was driving along a road north of Hamilton when several shots from another automobile went thru the top of his machine. He increased his speed but the other car drew alongside and Catt jumped to the running board of Hartzell's car. Hartzell, according to the statement, fearing that he would be robbed of several hundred dollars he drew his revolver, fired twice and Catt fell to the ground. He then continued to Hamilton and later to Anderson, where he was arrested. He was rubbed across the state line into Ohio and the charge preferred immediately. Hartzell maintains, Sheriff Holycross announced, that he shot purely in self-defense. Further action in the case today was said to await joint action of the coroner's offices of Franklin and Butler-cos who announced they would take up the case immediately.

$2,700,000 MUNICIPAL REPAIR SHOPS CLOSED

CHICAGO — Chicago's $2,700,000 municipal repair shops have been closed as a failure, it became known today, following an investigation by a committee of aldermen, because city work done there cost 300 per cent of what it would have cost on the outside.

Some illustrations given by aldermen in support of the charges that prices are excessive, showed that a water valve which on the outside would cost $12 cost the city $35 in the shops, a bell for a police automobile which would cost $8 to $10 on the outside, cost the city $30 at the shop; standard automobile tires at one time sold to the city at list price less 25 per cent cost the city the list price plus 25 per cent for overhead at the shops.

STEEL COMPANY'S SHIP RIGHTS IN CANAL UPHELD

WASHINGTON — The right of the United States Steel corporation through its subsidiaries to operate steamships by way of the Panama Canal is upheld in a tentative report submitted today to the Interstate Commerce commission by the examiner designated to take evidence. The examiner's report is sustained by commission will settle the controversy hinging about that point. Steamship lines, operating through the canal, attacked the steel corporation's right to participate in the business on the ground that it was also owner of a number of railroad lines, some of which are engaged in transcontinental traffic. Railroad lines so engaged are prohibited by law from entering into direct competition with the ships in the canal trade.

The STEP on the STAIRS

by ISABEL OSTRANDER

nov remarked with dignity. "I stopped on the way down at this person's door but received no response."

"And your name's Griswold?" the policeman prevented an evidently heated rejoinder by his sharp question.

"Henry Griswold and I know nothing whatever about any murder!" declared the newcomer. "I do not care to be embroiled in any such."

"You're here, and you'll stay, sir, till we hear from headquarters," Boyle replied significantly. "So you're on the fourth floor and this gentleman here on the fifth."

"I indicated the professor with marked courtesy in deference to the sergeant, and then turned to the young man in the chair. "You have the apartment on the second floor, sir, just over the shop?"

The young man nodded without lifting his head and replied with muffled tones: "Yes. My name is Gordon Ladd. I heard you making that racket, you know, and went down to the entrance and let you in."

"And that's all that lives in this house?" Boyle looked from one to another of them but his gaze finally fastened upon the professor and the latter replied:

"A lady lives on the top floor, the one above mine. I do not know her. Of the shop I can tell you nothing, but there is a janitor or superintendent who occupies the basement although I have never found him there when he is wanted for sudden repairs or other emergencies. There are no other occupants of the building, to my knowledge."

There are no other occupants of the building, to my knowledge."

"Thanks, sir," Boyle turned again to the telephone and the municipal machinery of investigation to the death of Miriam Vane was set in motion.

"Well," Boyle squared his shoulders with a satisfied air. "I'll get what I can. I'll ask you, sergeant, to see that these three gentlemen stay in this room. Don't let one of them put a finger on the corpse, either!"

He added the last in a hoarse whisper that must have been plainly audible to the entire group, for even the young man in the chair, overcome with horror as he appeared, shuddered and as the policeman started up the stairway with a heavy tread he raised a haggard face.

"It can't be!" he muttered as if to himself. "Not Miriam! I must be going mad!"

"So it's Miriam Vane, the woman painter, that's been murdered, as that police officer said?" Griswold drew his dressing gown closer about his lean form. "I should like to know, sir, why you banged on my door and dragged me to it?"

He turned irascibly to the professor, who shook back his mane of bushy white hair and smiled with suave urbanity.

"My dear sir, the sound of the shot came from below my rooms somewhere and my friend and I could not tell whether it came from your apartment or this one."

"I can tell when I hear a fiddle playing at ungodly hours over my head whether it comes from above or the top floor!" the other retorted. "I move down here, away from my club, and my office, and my bankers in order to get peace and quiet and I land in this sort of thing!"

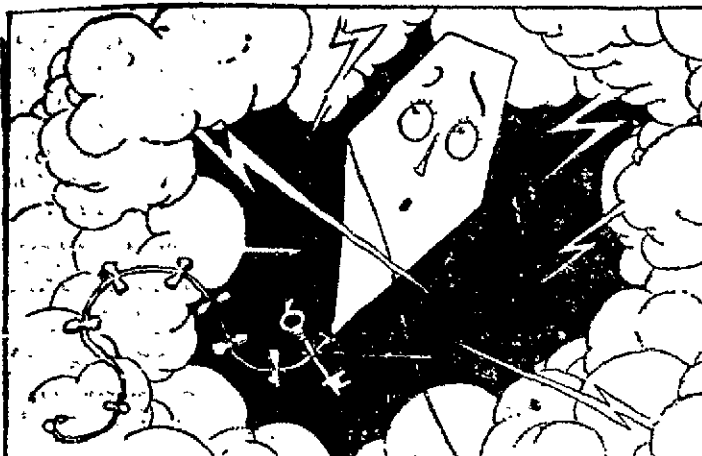

A scream, shrill but subdued by distance floated down to them at this juncture and the professor murmured in an aside to Barry:

"Evidently your excellent friend of the police has broken the news of the tragedy none too diplomatically to my neighbor in the skylight apartment."

WHAT THE KITE SAID

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I was afraid of the storm with all the lightning around."

Everything was quiet for a few minutes. The first kite had insisted that he was the most important on account of having helped to build a big bridge and the second kite had claimed the same honor because, as he said, he had discovered electricity.

Then the Fairy Queen said quietly: "You are both as foolish as you can be. You might just as well say that one of Columbus' ships discovered America."

"Instead of being glad that you were of some use to the world you are spoiling it all by your vanity. Now run along, both of you, for neither of you deserve one bit of credit."

"It was the men who thought of using you, who were the great ones. They never thought of biting off another's noses."

"Shame on you both! I shall not punish you this time, but if I hear of any more trouble in my far-off

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I HAVE never told my troubles to anyone, but I am writing to you to see if you can help me by giving me a little advice. I am a married woman, 35 years old, and I have a good salary and a good provider. He has always treated me with respect and I should be happy to know, however, he is a little bit of a worrier. I wish he were like you, I can't understand him. What can I do to help him overcome these spells?

YOUR husband really loves you—I am certain of that. Since he seems to be an ideal husband in every respect, I feel that the only sensible thing you can do is to overlook this one fault. You know that he does not wish he were free. He probably does not realize what he is saying when he is attacked with one of these unfortunate periods of moodiness.

Study the matter carefully and try to determine what it is that causes these spells. Avoid doing anything or saying anything which displeases your husband. If, however, regardless of your efforts you still find him in this unhappy state of mind, try not to allow resentment or unhappiness.

If you cannot force yourself to keep cheerful and hopeful at such times, you at least can keep your calm and poise so that both of you are not unreasonable at the same time.

Dear Miss Smart:
Some time ago I phoned a gentleman friend at his place of employment. He was leaving within a half hour on a business trip, thus causing our conversation to be limited. He stated, "I am sure that you are one of the best girls I have ever met. I have never seen him since. He has never called on me and I am somewhat afraid to write, at least without permission. I have left the matter up to you, thinking that if I may meet him in a public place, I should write or phone him. What am I to do?"

Well, "Peggy" don't you know that you are just exactly one year and sixteen days behind time. Perhaps that is somewhat vague, but I mean to say that Leap Year is long. I mean to say that your friend the privilege of making the advances. Probably you don't realize that it is very much out of place and very, very improper for a young girl to call unless the matter happens to be vitally important. For a girl to call a boy simply for a friendly little chat is improper and you deserve to be censured. From your letter I infer that is what you did. Certainly you should not write telephone this boy friend. He would only lose respect for you. If he wishes to see you he will not have much difficulty in finding your house.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) I have been working for a year and a half. My mother and father are not getting along very well and I had to quit school in order to help at home. I would like to know if you can tell me where I can make to study to have a good position. (2) How is my writing for a girl or 15 years? (3) How can a girl have to be to study nursing?

Answer to Question:
(1) Your question is rather perplexing. Mr. Timmermeister is that you wish to improve your education so that you may secure a better position. Many persons who are employed, find night school one of the finest and quickest ways of improving their education and of securing a better understanding of their particular line of work. Classes are held two nights a week. For further information confer with the superintendent of the Lima schools. (2) Fair. (3) A girl must have attained her 18th year and must have received at least one year of high school education.

DAMPEN COAL
If you would use fine grained coal most economically dampen it before putting it in the stove or furnace. Dampening it takes on something of the quality of hard coal and will not fall thru the grate.

CELERY
Roll the celery in brown paper, then wrap a towel around it and put it in a dark place. Put it in a basin of cold water for an hour before using. Celery thus treated can be used after it is a week old.

CLEANING FURNITURE
If the white furniture is not cleaned it should be washed with a time with sudsy soap and if it is encased in a neutral soap should be used. Each spot, as it is washed, should be thoroughly dried.

RENEWING DRESSING
If the mayonnaise has stood for a period and separates, in order to bring it back to its original fresh state, beat into it a mixture of 1 cup of water and 2 tablespoons of cornstarch which has been boiled until thick.

SPOTS ON LEATHER
Grease spots can be removed from leather if they are rubbed with sal ammoniac. After the liquid is put on it should be given sufficient time to act and then sponged off.

SEEK FRIENDS IN HOUR OF NEED
"In the hour of need we quickly seek our best friends," writes Chas. Schröder Ward of West 73rd Ave., Oakland, Cal., our little boy and girl have a severe dry, rasping cough without phlegm, a cough that suffers like unto convulsion. Pockles and flushes the face of the boy's Honey and Tar was a wonderful emergency remedy. Cases like this give Foley's Honey and Tar its reputation as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Chas. J. LIMA WATER WORKS

MISS CHRISTEN'S DAILY PAGE OF CLUB AND SOCIETY EVENTS FRITZIE SCHEFF SAYS LACK OF WORRY KEEPS HER FIT

The Lima News asked several of chance to breathe. The best method of removing cosmetics, as well as the soil of the day, is to cream the face well first.

Scrub the cream over the skin very generously and then wipe it off with a soft and very clean towel. It may be necessary to use a second coating of cream if all of the traces of cosmetic have not been removed.

Then the water! Nothing quite like soap and water for a healthy, youthful skin! Possibly it won't be necessary to use soap with the water bath after the cream wash, but all depends upon the condition of the skin—but the last rinsing should be with cold water.

CLOTHING FASHION PART
I have no patience with clothing which conceals the lines of the figure. No woman can be truly beautiful in a frock or gown which is nothing more than an indistinct maze of material with no lines, no accent, no tone of value.

If I wear something with the loose line prevalent just now it is invariably transparent with a pretty foundation built on good distinct lines.

The whole charm of dress is in its line—not its material.

LETTERS TO LOVERS
By WINONA WILCOX

Normal married life includes the well known process described as "settling down." Marriage never remains static or "in neutral." In abnormal cases, a sort of domestic over-ferescence takes place.

Early symptoms of such seethings are indicated in the following from a Bride of Two Months:

"Before our wedding my lover and I were the two happiest persons in the whole wide world. He wanted only me. I wanted only him. But immediately after our marriage, began to resent many things my husband does.

"I still love him dearly and I know he loves me but some of his personal characteristics are actually repulsive to me; some of his customs and habits about the house drive me to the screaming point; and his lack of tact in social relations is a source of constant annoyance to me."

"My new husband bows to his plate with every mouthful, and I get hysterical watching him.

"I have come to believe that the true test of a good-looking man is the way in which he eats."

To any man, this letter may seem absurd, but many women will understand perfectly the bride's reaction to her new conditions of living. But most women will agree that part of the bride's irritation is unreasonable, have dined with the man more than once. She had her opportunity to observe his table manners. Having at the time been oblivious to disagreeable details, she is not now entitled to complain.

Her astonishment at her husband's lack of social tact may be justified. The new psychology explains the moods of a certain type of man as an inevitable detail of his way of loving a woman.

Often the extremely devoted lover who shuts the engaged girl away from the world turns out to be a poor host in his own home. He doesn't take any pains to conceal his preference for an isolated life under any variety of politeness.

He is sure to hurt the feelings of all of the bride's friends. Perhaps a husband with unrefined table manners is to be preferred.

POLLY AND PAUL --AND PARIS

By Zoe Beckley

MORNING GLORY

"De you know, Polly darlint," said Paul, "that this very taxicab we're in is a war veteran? It's one of those blessed old rattletaps that chugged up to the Marine on that awful September 6th." Polly's mouth opened in awe as he gazed about the old vehicle and up at the fat chauffeur. "—and maybe this old fellow himself was one of the men who pushed back the Germans at Meud!"

"Oh, Paul!"—squeezing his arm tight, "I love this one. What an adorable little street! And there's the Madeleine—I recognize it from the pictures I've been brought up on all my life. What splendid pillars! And—look, Paul—there's the stone saint that had his poor head blown off by Big Bertha."

Next morning the gay spring sunshine striking across her face woke Polly early. She kissed Paul's eyes. "Come, blessed old boy, don't sleep another minute! I give you a quarter of an hour to dress and get down to breakfast. I can't wait! If you don't hurry I'll jump out of the window and mess up that sweet little cobblestoned courtyard just as you see it!"

Madame Ignorance. Breakfast comes up to us—rolls and coffee. That's all you get!"

The neat maid brought it on a tray and Polly alternated her nibbles of crisp roll and mouthfuls of coffee-and-hot-milk with squeals of delight and impatient urgings of Paul to hurry.

In the street was the fresh smell of morning. Cafes were being swept and garnished, bakers' boys trudged along with baskets of yardlong brown loaves, a shop at the corner was a blaze of oranges, carrots and luscious lettuce, and then suddenly upon Polly's eyes burst the glory of the flower market about the Madeleine. She was on tiptoe with joy. Lusty peasant women in fat skirts smiled at the couple.

"Ah—ah—les violettes pour Monsieur! Fifty centimes la boîte! Sweet—sweet!" And Paul bought "Mignon" a bunch and pinned them on her jacket.

"Let's sit here," said Paul as they came to the Café de la Paix. "They say," he went on, choosing a table well to the front where passers-by almost grazed their toes, "that if you sit here an hour you'll meet everybody you ever knew!"

"I don't want to meet a soul," murmured Polly. "It would spoil everything."

The words had scarcely passed her lips when the smart, self-assured figure of Viola Rand, chin in air, swung along. Would she pass without seeing them? Polly prayed so.

But no such luck. She saw, she came. Paul rose with a welcoming smile. And across Polly's sun-awed a little gray cloud.

FINNAN HADDIE Ways to Make It Real Tasty

Finnan Haddie is the common or-dinary haddock, dried and cured. In the fishing village of Finndhorn near Aberdeen, haddock was specially well cured and the town gained a wide reputation for its dried fish. By contraction Finndhorn has become Finnan and any salted and smoked haddock is known as finnan haddie.

Our finnan haddie is a native of this country but it makes a delicious breakfast, luncheon or dinner dish.

BAKED FINNAN HADDIE
Wash fish and let stand in cold water to cover for an hour. The skin side of the fish should be up. Drain and wipe dry. Sprinkle with minced onion, dredge with flour, dot with bits butter, sprinkle with pepper and pour over milk to cover fish.

Bake half an hour in a hot oven. Choose a shallow pan that will hold the fish just comfortably.

SMOKED HADDOCK ON TOAST
One-half smoked haddock, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, few gratings nutmeg, pepper, paprika, toast.

Let fish stand in cold water for half an hour. Drain and pour over boiling water. Cover and let stand ten minutes. Drain, remove skin and bones and divide in flakes. Heat milk to the scalding point and add fish. Simmer for ten minutes. Drain, put milk aside and chop fish finely. Melt butter, add minced onion and cook a few minutes without browning. Add fish and parsley. Heat and add the eggs beaten with 1-4 cup milk in which the fish was cooked. Season with pepper and nutmeg and cook over hot water till the mixture thickens. Pour over triangles of toast and dust with paprika.

SCALLOPED FINNAN HADDIE
One and one-half pounds fish, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1-2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 cups boiled macaroni.

Let fish stand in cold water for an hour. Drain and pour over boiling water to cover. Simmer twenty minutes and remove skin and bones. Divide into large flakes. Melt butter, add flour and stir till smooth. Rub tomatoes thru a sieve to remove seeds. Add this tomato pulp to the blended butter and flour. Cook three minutes. Put layer of macaroni in a buttered baking dish.

WHEN A BABY HAS A COLD
Be Kind to Him, Mother; Don't Give Him Nasty Medicine—Use Nash's Salve—Pleasant, Safe, Sure

It's a positive sin to make baby take medicine except at the order of a physician. To give baby a cathartic simply because he has a cold is brutal. His little stomach and bowels are tender. Too much medicine may ruin his digestion for life.

Best and surest treatment for baby's cold and cough is Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve. Simply put a little in each nostril; thus he will inhale the vapor and his little head will be cleared in a jiffy. Then rub his chest generously with the salve and apply warm flannel; arrange covers about neck in such a manner that he will breathe the vapors. The cold will be broken in a few hours.

Nash's Salve, "that stronger kind," is sold only in 30 and 60-cent bottles. You can get it at the drug stores.

machinery of investigation to the death of Miriam Vane was set in motion.

"Well," Boyle squared his shoulders with a satisfied air, "I'll get what I can. I'll ask you, sergeant, to see that these three gentlemen stay in this room. Don't let one of them put a finger on the corpse, either!"

He added the last in a hoarse whisper that must have been plainly audible to the entire group for even the young man in the chair, overcome with horror as he appeared, shuddered and as the policeman started up the stairway with a heavy tread he raised a haggard face.

"It can't be!" he muttered as if to himself. "Not Miriam! I must be going mad!"

"So it's Miriam Vane, the woman painter, that's been murdered, as that police officer said?" Griswold drew his dressing gown closer about his lean form. "I should like to know, sir, why you banged on my door and dragged me to it?"

He turned frantically to the professor, who shook back his mane of bushy white hair and smiled with suave urbanity.

"My dear sir, the sound of the shot came from below my rooms somewhere and my friend and I could not tell whether it came from your apartment or this one."

"I can tell when I hear a fiddle playing at ugody hours over my head whether it comes from above or the top floor!" the other retorted. "I move down here, away from my club, and my office, and my bankers in order to get peace and quiet and I land in this sort of thing!"

A scream, shrill but subdued by distance floated down to them at this juncture and the professor murmured in an aside to Barry:

"Evidently your excellent friend of the police has broken the news of the tragedy none too diplomatically to my neighbor in the skylight apartment!"

WHAT THE KITE SAID

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I was afraid of the storm with all the lightning around."

Everything was quiet for a few minutes.

The first kite had insisted that he was the most important on account of having helped to build a big bridge and the second kite had claimed the same honor because, as he said, he had discovered electricity.

Then the Fairy Queen said quietly, "You are both as foolish as you can be. You might just as well say that one of Columbus' ships discovered America."

"Instead of being glad that you were of some use to the world you are spoiling it all by your vanity. Now run along, both of you, for neither of you deserve one bit of credit."

"It was the men who thought of using you, who were the great ones. And they never thought of biting off one another's noses."

"Shame on you both! I shall not punish you this time, but if I hear of any more trouble in my far-off palace, I shall have Buskins send you back to a toy store on the earth and take a little of the importance out of you."

The important kites shivered and hung their heads.

"All right, your majesty," said the first kite, "I'll be good. And I really as well confess that I didn't want to make that trip across the river. I was afraid that I'd fall into the water. I wouldn't have gone at all, only the wind caught me and I had to go."

"And I," said the second kite, following his companion's example, "will have to tell you that I was afraid of the storm with all the lightning around, and didn't want to go up into the clouds at all with the key tied on me. The wind did that, too."

"Honest confession is good for everybody," smiled the Fairy Queen. "I'm proud of you both now."

COACH YOST TO USE MOVING PICTURES IN DEVELOPING NEXT SEASON'S FOOTBALL TEAM

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Motion pictures are to play an important part in the future coaching of the Michigan varsity football squad, Coach Fielding H. Yost announced following an investigation along this line.

Coach Yost discovered the value of motion pictures to a football coach by accident. He asked a local motion picture cameraman to take 1,500 feet of film of the Michigan Ohio State game. It was Yost's intention to compile a pictorial record of important Michigan games to be shown about the state and at class reunions in the future.

When the pictures were delivered a small room adjoining Yost's office was converted into a projection room and the pictures shown upon a small card-board. The motion picture machine being focused to show all the play on the card-board.

Altho the figures in the pictures appeared to be but a few inches in height Coach Yost, by standing close to the card-board, obtained a good view of his team in action as tho he had been playing in the backfield. The value of motion pictures for training purposes became apparent to the "Curry up" mentor. By turning the machine slowly he found he could obtain the results of a rapid action camera. Yost turned the reel thru the machine over and over again, studying the manner in which each of his charges conducted himself in the Ohio State game.

He learned which of the men followed the play at all times and which lacked aggressiveness. After the demonstration was over Yost had accurate information concerning the good and bad points of each member of his squad who appeared during the game.

"I cannot say that motion pictures will revolutionize coaching but they will aid us considerably in giving us close-ups of the men under fire," Coach Yost said. "The camera records facts that cannot be discerned from the sidelines during a game. A coach knows his men better by having seen them on the screen."

Yost will attempt to procure a screen record of the Wisconsin and Minnesota games.

The pictorial record will not be confined to football, the mentor said, but pictures will be taken of games in all varsity sports.

FAST NAGS ARE IN WINTER QUARTERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Thoroughbreds, valued by their owners at more than $1,000,000, are in winter quarters at Douglas Park and Churchill Downs here.

Included among them are the highly-bred youngsters in the stables of John E. Madden, the racers trained by Alex Gordon for "Bud" Fisher, the cartoonist; the 2-year-olds of the Jones Brothers, and many other well-known thoroughbreds.

Because of the open winter in Louisville, the youngsters, which became 2-year-olds in January, already have begun their first racing lessons.

The Madden string contains several likely youngsters which as yet are unnamed, but which are by such sires as Star Rock, Ormondale, Hessian, The Plum and Sir Martin. Mr. Madden, it is said, considers his great colt, Star Rider, as a likely contender for the Kentucky Derby. Last season this colt showed up well and had a way of sticking to his task the entire distance.

ELIGIBLE FOR DERBY

Star Rider started only eight times, won six times, finished second once and third once, winning $16,430. Because of being a gelding, he will be barred from several of the richest 3-year-old races, but will be eligible for the Derby.

Sporting Blood, which last season won four races and $43,610, is at the Fisher stable and, according to race track followers, he never looked better included in his victories last year was the rich Latonia champion 3-year-old stakes.

The Dick Finkel colt, Violinist, is regarded as Fisher's entry in the Derby. Violinist has filled out well this winter and his trainer believes he will have a good chance to win the "blue ribbon" of the American turf.

FISHER HAS STRING

Included in Fisher's string of 2-year-olds are five fillies and seven colts. Trainer Gordon particularly likes Brocade, the broodstock-Brocade filly, while the Dick-Finkel-Diamond-Grain colt looks promising. Diamond-Grain is another that is considered to have a good chance this season. Dypylon, a bay colt by Sunstar-Melange by Meddler is another colt that has received favorable attention.

BASKETBALL SCOUTS ARE ON JOB

SCOUTING opposing teams is not confined to football alone at the University of Michigan.

When Ohio State played Chicago in basketball, Coach Mathew of Michigan was at Bartlett Gymnasium getting a line on both teams for coming games.

The same night Trainer Archibald was scouting the Iowa-Wisconsin game.

Ohio State also sends out its basketball scouts. The Scarlet and Gray had a man watching the Michigan-M. A. C. game last week.

Gym Club Fails To Submit Card To Commission

Failure of the Lima Gym club to have their complete card arranged caused a meeting of the new Lima boxing commission Monday night to be postponed indefinitely.

Charles Maxwell, Louis Golger and Earl Smith, promoters, were to have the contracts of all fighters in by last night for their show to be staged January 27th at Memorial Hall.

TIME DRAWING NEAR

The night of the bouts is now less than two weeks away, and as a general rule the approval of the commission should have been stamped on each contract a week ago.

At Madden, the boy who will fight Jake Gross, promised to have his articles in by Sunday. They failed to arrive, but are expected in sometime Tuesday.

MADDEN DUE SOON

Earl Smith said Madden would arrive in Lima the early part of next week to begin training here for his bout with Jake Gross. Efforts are being made to bring K. O. Jeakle and Toughy Ramsey here several days before the fight so local fans will have the opportunity to watch them workout.

Tickets for the fight will be placed on sale Thursday or Friday. Out-of-town orders are being taken now at the Arcade Cigar store and Maxwell's hotel.

Bad Eyes No Handicap

BALTIMORE, Md.—Clifford Hartung for ten years has ranked as one of the best basketball guards in the east. He plays with the three-time champion St. Andrews club of Baltimore, Md.

Last season Hartung's eyesight began to fail, and at the start of this season he found he could see only a few yards ahead of him. Friends urged him to give up the game as he was courting serious injury.

But Hartung and basketball refused to be separated so easily. He first went to an oculist and procured the sort of heavy glasses thought best fitted for the court game. Then he had constructed a special headgear to protect his eyes.

He started the season with the Champs and is going as strong as ever. The guard and glasses do not bother him, and he expects to wind up the season again looking as one of the best players in the east.

Hartung is an aggressive player, and it was feared he might be at a decided disadvantage. However, he appears to have solved the matter of proper protection for the eyes, and so far his game has not suffered in the least.

Dempsey May Fight Carpentier In European Ring Next Summer

NEW YORK.—Ring followers, conceding with Tex Rickard that another match in America between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier would be a financial fizzle, were inclined to believe today that such a scrimmage might be staged abroad with fair profit.

There have been reports from time to time that the Frenchman again might fight Dempsey and this is confirmed by dispatches from Carpentier's camp abroad, after his victory over Cook the Australian heavyweight. Dempsey's manager said the champion was ready to defend his title anywhere the guarantees were posted.

IS STILL CHAMPION

Carpentier is still the super-fighter of Europe, having promptly disposed of his English, French and colonial heavyweight opponents. While his decisive defeat by Dempsey came as a surprise to Europe, he has declared that if he were to meet the American again, he would adopt different ring tactics. He indicated he would box at long range and seek to wear down his heavier opponent to point where a knockout could be landed without the peril of retaliation in a toe-to-toe mixup.

If Georges stuck to his proposed plan of boxing Dempsey at long range, it is probable that European spectators would witness a longer contest than Carpentier has staged in the past.

Owing to financial conditions abroad, attendance and gate receipts would likely approach those in Jersey City. Dempsey, however, has no worthy opponent for a bout next summer and might be willing to box abroad for considerably less than he received from Rickard for facing Carpentier.

STAR BALL PLAYERS OFTEN FOOLISH

BY BILLY EVANS

STAR ball players often do the most reckless things at the most inopportune times.

Their carefree attitude in a number of cases have seriously impaired their own usefulness as well as caused their club owner much woe, mentally and financially.

Wrestling in the clubhouse, which is usually filled with benches, concrete posts and other obstructions, is a favorite amusement. Rough house on the Pullman, with only the narrow aisleway to work in, is another happy thought.

Back in 1911 "Rube" Walcott, while in a playful spirit, just about killed an opponent. Mack had to beat the New York Giants in the world series.

In the east there is a certain day in the fall when the straw hat becomes taboo. If a fellow chooses to wear one, he does so at his peril. Friends of his are always liable to bust the lid. Very often a scuffle ensues while the act is being staged.

Coming into the Pullman as the Athletics were pulling out of Boston one evening late in the fall, "Rube" spied one of the players still using a straw skypiece. "Rube" decided to smash the straw. He sneaked carefully and was just about to pounce on the hat when the owner spied him.

A scuffle resulted in which Walcott finally managed to put the straw hat out of commission. However, before he had accomplished his purpose, he had suffered an injury to his left arm and back which rendered him useless for the rest of the season.

Now that the American League pennant race of 1921 is over, also the world series, it is not breaking faith to tell of a little incident that for a time threatened to put the New York American League club out of the race.

TWO STARS WERE INJURED

The team had just finished its final trip thru the west and had been most successful. The club jumped into Washington before coming home to stage a couple of games there.

Just before the train pulled into Washington "Babe" Ruth and Wally Schang got in a friendly wrestling match over some trivial thing. The first clash resulted in a draw, some of the players finally making the two quit their kidding which some of the boys feared might result in an injury to either of the stars.

Ruth is just a big kid. He was satisfied that he had been unable to make Schang yell enough. Now Schang is one of the huskiest players in the game. Altho, "Babe" is considerably larger, Schang was a match for him.

Once more the two went at it. Altho the spirit was friendly, yet each was giving the best he had. Suddenly Schang shifted his sub-gave Ruth a sudden shove, and the two of them rolled over the side of the seat onto the floor. That ended the wrestling.

MIGHT HAVE COST PENNANT

The next day Ruth reported with a very lame back. It was given out that he had slept with a fan blowing on him and had contracted a bad cold. Schang said his arm and back were hurting him as a result of collision at the plate a few days before.

As a matter of fact the two were out of the lineup at a most important time simply because they chose to be playful on a Pullman. However, there is always a bit of sunshine when the gloom seems thick.

The injury to Schang made necessary that Manager Huggins' Catcher Devormer. The foolishness of Ruth and Schang gave Devormer his chance. He made the most of it. Insure of a week he had convinced Manager Huggins.

The New York critics that the Yankees had a most promising backstop. Previous to this Devormer had gone for about four months, all had been permitted to catch only about two innings.

Junior Basket Tourney Plans Enthuse Boys

The first annual Junior basketball tournament will be staged in February.

Managers of 12 teams, players of which are all 16 years old or under, are enthusiastic about the proposed one-day meet and all have registered their approval of the preliminary plans.

MEETING THURSDAY

At a meeting of team managers to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, all plans will be made for the tournament. A date, probably February 10, will be selected as the final day on which a team can enter. By that time each team will have to put up a small registration fee, with a list of their seven players. Only that number will be allowed on each team. A judiciary committee will be elected to pass on any question of eligibility that might arise. The decision of this body will be final.

MUST SELL TICKETS

Each team will probably be held responsible for the sale of 50 tickets at 10 cents each. That will be about eight tickets to be sold by each player.

Franklin Doan, N. Collett-st., manager of the Big 11, is fathering preliminary plans and it is thru his effort that the tourney was suggested. Any information concerning the tournament can be obtained by calling him at home, Phone High 3224.

Kenneth Crawford, manager of the Pirates, is another booster from whom any information can be obtained.

Bouts At Smoker

Several interesting boxing exhibitions are slated on the program to be given at Musicians' Hall Wednesday night at a smoker of the Sailors' and Soldiers' association.

Don Hoyer will be on the card, with several local boys. Jack Deblitt, the ocean pug who was once one of Lima's leading fighters, is in charge of arrangements.

All ex-soldiers sailors and marines are invited.

BALZAC, HUGO, IBSEN, SUDERMANN-AUTHORS

(BY ESTHER WAGNER.)
 EX Ingram is to make a special production of Victor Hugo's "Toilers of the Sea." It has not yet been determined whether it will be made here or abroad.
 Ingram demonstrated his ability with "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power." He has just completed "The Son of Zenda." Hugo, Balzac and Ibsen—the classic element in the group of authors.
 Nazimova has completed "A Doll's House" and is to do "Regina." They are the works of Rosen and Sudermann.
 The fact that works of these five authors are being converted to the screen seems to be answer sufficient to those who say there is no serious merit in American films.

 All prize fights are like this one. I've always had a wrong condition of them. Always thought they were horrid, gory things where men gnash their teeth, bellow in others ears and destroy anything within reach when their fists lands a punch, and where we faint and are forthwith carried to hospital in a foot ball game.
 But really, you see more wild demonstrations in a foot ball game. You see, it's at the last of the last that Carpenter is knocked out. And then, some enlightening

SHORT SHAVINGS

A neighbor told Mrs. Charles Kleswetter, 231 W. O'Connor-av., that a sheet of paper put over a cake in the oven would keep the top from getting too dark.

"I don't think much of the suggestion," says Mrs. Kleswetter. "The paper caught fire from the top burner in the oven and burnt the top of the cake black."

Frank W. Broome, insurance and real estate agent, Fairhol-bk., is telling a good story about friends of his who had been taking their baby out for an automobile ride every evening. The car was laid up in the garage at the beginning of winter. The baby wouldn't go to sleep at home. Then they put a vacuum cleaner under the hood, started it humming and the baby went to sleep contentedly.

Mrs. F. Royal Albridge, 1565 W. High-st., spent nearly half an hour trying to get a telephonic call thru. After she had inquired of the trouble clerk if the telephone called was in trouble, she found she had been calling her own number.

Big man's horn is seldom heard these days. "But I'm carefully storing away all the old rags and iron in the shed for the spring visit," Harold Kephart, Leland-av., son of John B. Kephart, deputy in the probate judge's office, says. "The returns will be sufficient to lay in a stock of marbles and tops," young Kephart says.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant. You can feel the take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same— inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Spleen-aid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment. Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

What Have "Boiling Points" to Do with Starting a Cold Motor?

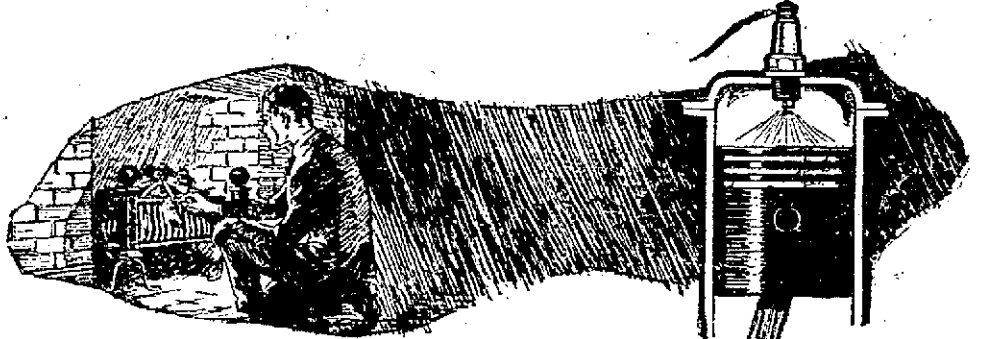

TO start your motor easily and to pick up speed quickly requires the use of a fuel having a sufficient proportion of light, volatile fractions. These fractions vaporize at a low temperature—they have a low boiling point—and they ignite easily in the cylinder. A gasoline possessing this quality is especially necessary in cold weather to avoid excessive and harmful drains on the battery.

But the gasoline you use should possess more than just the low boiling point fractions, or it will produce only a small amount of power. It should have an adequate proportion of heavy fractions which vaporize at a high temperature, so that the engine may produce maximum power and mileage. Then to connect the light and the heavy fractions—to fuse the low boiling point with the high boiling point—and so insure fast smooth acceleration—there should also be an adequate proportion of increasingly heavy fractions.

In short, the gasoline you use should have a complete chain of boiling points. It should have this "complete chain" for the same reason that a grate fire should be laid with paper, shavings and coal. The illustration below will explain this fully.

Red Crown Gasoline has the complete chain of boiling points. The low initial boiling point—like the paper in the grate—gives quick, easy starts. The intermediate boiling points—the "kindling"—give smooth acceleration. And the high boiling points—the "coal"—give full power and mileage.

Avoid carburetor and engine trouble this winter by using a uniform, high-grade fuel—Red Crown. Have your carburetor set for Red Crown, and then use only Red Crown. Buy at service stations and garages.

Every Time the Spark Jumps It Sets Off a Well-Laid Fire—

1. You touch a match to the paper.
The fire starts.
2. The paper lights easily and burns rapidly. In burning it creates sufficient flame to light the kindling wood.
3. The kindling wood burns.
A little heat begins to flow through the room.
4. The coal finally catches and the fire is "going."
Full heat now circulates through the room.
5. This process takes considerable time.
1. A sizzling spark leaps.
2. The low boiling point fraction of the gas lights easily. It burns and ignites the next higher boiling point fraction.
Your motor starts easily in any weather.
3. The middle range of boiling point fractions burn, one after another.
Your motor accelerates smoothly.
4. The highest boiling-point fractions are burned.
Your motor develops full power at all speeds.
5. This all happens in the twinkling of your eye.

Note: The "boiling point" of a liquid is simply the temperature on the Fahrenheit thermometer at which it will begin to boil or go off in the form of vapor. In distilling a given quantity of gasoline refiners ascertain at what point each 10% of the liquid will boil until the entire quantity is boiled away or evaporated. In this way is determined what is known as the initial boiling point, the final boiling point and all intervening boiling points.
